

WORLD AIDS DAY OF AHF'S PAST:

World AIDS Day was founded on December 1st, 1988 by what is now UNAIDS. Focusing on different themes every year, World AIDS Day is meant to raise awareness of the HIV/AIDS pandemic and to celebrate and mourn those who have died from this awful disease. It is celebrated internationally and coincides with education on AIDS treatment and prevention.

Chris Brownlie Opening, December 5th 1988:
Five days after the first ever World AIDS Day, the first hospice for people with AIDS in LA County was opened by AHF.

A NOTE FROM HYWEL

DEEP IN THE HEART OF HOSPICE

There's been a hole at the heart of our hospice. Since 1991, we've not been able to provide bereavement counseling to residents or to their loved ones - and a hospice without bereavement counseling is like a home without a heart. But now, we have a Bereavement Counselor, Cyrl Oshah, who returns to a position he last held in 1991.

Though Cyrl officially assumed his new responsibilities on November 21st, he will spend this first month or so researching other bereavement programs so that we can create the best possible support here at Chris Brownlie. As a result of Cyrl's move, Bobbie Lazrus will assume the joint responsibility of running both volunteer and activity programs - becoming a full time staff member from November 21st.

You may wish to consider attending this event, or a finding a way of your own to mark World AIDS Day.

LOTS OF FUN AND CASH PRIZES!

ADOPT A DOOR FOR THE HOLIDAYS!

Once again this year, CBH employees are invited to help a resident decorate the door of his/her room for the holidays. Cash prizes for first, second and third place will be awarded to winning staff members and residents by Activities Coordinator, Bobbie Lazrus.

Tell Bobbie which door you're adopting. Decorated doors will be judged December 14 by an impartial volunteer, and winners announced at our monthly December 15th House meeting.

Have fun and brighten the holidays by teaming with a resident for this contest. May the best door win!

Incidentally, plans for our Annual Christmas Party are well under way. It will be held on Friday, December 23 at 5:30 p.m.

MICHAEL ANKRETT / MELTON GOODWIN AT CALIFORNIA FASHION INDUSTRY MEASUREMENT WORKING AT NICOLE MILLER (310) 278-6264 x 190

CALIFORNIA FASHION INDUSTRY FRIENDS OF AIDS HEALTHCARE FOUNDATION TO HONOR FASHION DESIGNER NICOLE MILLER ON WORLD AIDS DAY 2000

12 April 2000, LOS ANGELES, CA—The California Fashion Industry Friends of AIDS Healthcare Foundation (formerly known as California Fashion Industry Friends of AIDS Project Los Angeles) will honor American designer NICOLE MILLER on Friday evening December 1st—World AIDS Day—at its 11th annual celebration and fundraising gala. The event will take place at the CENTURY PLAZA HOTEL in Century City and will include a cocktail reception and silent auction, sit-down dinner and fashion show. The event marks the first time that a women's designer has been honored. Past honorees have included ANITA, GREGORY BING, BOB MACCIS, THE BEST OF HOLLYWOOD'S ACADEMY AWARD WINNING COSTUME DESIGNERS, GANNI VERMAGE, TERRY MUELLER, CALVIN KLEIN, ISAAC MIZRAH, GIANFRANCO FERRE and TORO SHIROMA.

"As the number of women and children being infected with HIV and AIDS continues to increase, designers like Nicole Miller, Dennis Kavan, Norma Kamali, Karen Kane, Palma Picasso and others have helped play a crucial role in changing the perception that AIDS is only considered a "gay man's disease," said MICHAEL ANKRETT, event founder and executive chairman. "These women have valiantly brought AIDS to the forefront of the American public's conscience and continue to keep it there. In recognizing Nicole Miller among these amazing American fashion icons, we honor both her talent and her perseverance in the fight against AIDS."

Celebrity clients who will be invited (and may attend) include: JENNIFER ANISTON, ANGELA BASSETT, BRANDY, SHERRY, CHOW, KATHY CORCORAN, CLARE DANIEL, JONNA ELLMAN, SALMA HAYEK, GISELE BÜNDCHEN, DIANE VON FURSTENBERG, SALMA HAYEK, ALICIA SILVERSTONE and DINA THURNBERG.

At the Los Angeles gala the audience will get a chance to experience the many talents of Nicole Miller—embroidered skirts and corsets, fringe and metallics, plaids and polka dots, sequin dresses and bonded leather. While the models strut down the runway in pieces from the Fall 2000 collection, the audience will also be treated to a sneak preview of the Spring 2001 collection. An added treat—the evening will also serve as the world premiere of Miller's first ever men's collection. Miller will also design special dresses for the evening's show which will go on Silent Auction (and also be auctioned off on www.aidshealthcare.com) with all proceeds benefiting AIDS Healthcare Foundation. In addition, Miller is pleased to announce that the PREMIERE FRANKIE hat will style the models and MAC COSMETICS will do the makeup.

Miller attended the ELKS LODGE SCHOOL OF DESIGN and graduated from CHAMBER SYNDICATE DE LA COUTURE in Paris. Throughout her fifty-plus years in business, Miller has earned various accolades. Many regard Miller as the designer who reinvented the little black cocktail dress, often known her as the de designer, while still others know her for her signature hat hat. With four-year-old son Palmer, she now also owns the title of working mom.

Established in 1987, AIDS HEALTHCARE FOUNDATION today serves over 5,000 Greater Los Angeles patients regardless of their ability to pay at AIDS Healthcare Center and a residential care facility through the WOMENCARE CENTER, which provides comprehensive medical care and social services to women (and their families) living with HIV/AIDS; through POSITIVE HEALTHCARE, the nation's first AIDS-specific managed care plan in recipient of a prestigious SPSS (Special Project of National Significance) grant from the federal government; through AHF's Government Affairs Department, serving as a strong advocate on HIV/AIDS issues on a local, state and federal level; and through AHF's Research Division, and through AHF's TREATMENT-LIFE Division featuring the WERO LOCATOR, the nation's first office-based HIV testing and information center located in West Hollywood, CA.
